tion, there appears to be little that Mr. Smith can gain by presenting himself save to win the doubtful distinction of being the only person ever barred by the senate as morally disqualified. Billy Lorimer was unseated on the ground that the bribery that vitiated his election. In civil war and reconstruction days several were barred on grounds of disloyalty to the Union.

Many others have been denied seats because of irregularity of election or appointment. The house has excluded members-elect on moral grounds, but in the case of the senate those whose qualifications have been challenged on such grounds invariably have been excluded.

Many Questions Involved.

Many constitutional questions are involved in the Smith case, the discussion of which in the senate will make the debate the most notable in decades. The state rights issue has come to the fore again. This time the champions of the theory being not the traditional Democrats, but its quondam from the Republicans, the Deneen and Crowe groups. The house, however, has announced last night as the outcome of the first ballot that Brundage and Crowe are sprung out of the election of Charles E. Graydon as sheriff.

The Brundage men lined up behind Edward R. Litsinger, the Deneen pick for mayor. The two factions signed a harmony pact, leaving it open whether the new partnership is to be styled Brundage-Deneen, Deneen-Crowe, and so on, or simply the two will split forth in a concerted effort to clean up Willard Hale Thompson and the Crowe-Galpin organization in the mayoralty primaries on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22.

Participants in the merger pointed out that it's about time that the qualifications of its members the scope of the qualifications was not restricted to the three pertaining to eligibility to election. The senator contends this school could exclude a person for having red hair, if it so desired.

In addition, there are those who think that some other agency than the senate should pass upon the constitutional questions raised in the Smith case. It has been suggested that Smith take his case to the Supreme court by proceedings which eminent lawyers have outlined.

Question Arises Early.

On the right of the senate to exclude on moral grounds the precedents are mixed. The question arose before the infant nation was out of its swaddling clothes. Humphrey Marshall had been a senator from Kentucky for a year when, in 1796, he was charged with having committed fraud and perjury in a lawsuit prior to his election. The senate decided that, as Marshall never had been indicted and tried, he must be presumed innocent, and, that, moreover, the senate lacked jurisdiction under the constitution to pass on the matter.

The question occurred in 1865, when an effort was made to exclude Senator Simeon [Rep., Utah] on the charge that he was a polygamist. He was challenged on this ground when he presented his credentials, but he was allowed to take the oaths pending the investigation. The committee reported in favor of suspending him, but the senate overruled the committee, on the ground that the charge had not been substantiated, found Mr. Simeon qualified for the office of senator.

The house frequently has excluded members elect on moral grounds. Cannon of Utah was excluded because he was a polygamist. Likewise, in the fifty-sixth congress, Roberts of Utah was excluded for the same reason.

G. O. P. Is Set for Hot Primary on Mayor.

SMITH HALTS ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE ACTION FAVORING HIS CAUSE

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 8.—(Special)—Frank L. Smith today blocked plans of his friends to put through the Illinois legislature a resolution protecting his efforts to exclude him from State's Attorney Crooks' office, was nominated for the place by Crooks men.

Leonard Brundage, it is declared, originally did not care for the place if the job ran only until June, so he in turn helped to suggest Mr. Graydon.

When conferences began the Brundage men were led by Leonard Brundage, the Crooks man for Graydon.

During the talkfest word is said to have been brought from the Crooks camp.

Such a resolution was in the possession of a Republican state senator intent upon presenting it when the assembly met at noon to open its biennial session.

A number of other Republicans were prepared to support the resolution, and even some of the Democrats had said they would vote for it.

But at this stage along came Garrett de Forest Kinney, who was sworn in as state treasurer a little later, and announced that Col. Smith, in Chicago, had been consulted about the resolution and asked that it not be postponed.

Smith's friends reluctantly agreed to abide by his decision.

The resolution was a protest against the "franchiseism" of Illinois threatened by the move to keep Smith out of the senate during the short McKinley term to which he was appointed by Gov. Smith.

And Tom Wallace was commissioned by him to serve as signatory.

Plenty of Patronage.

As to the status of the new D-B combine, after a casual survey, says it is about 20 per cent stronger in patronage than the Crowe-Galpin-Thompson camp and leaders in the new combination say they are set for a hot primary battle.

HOUSE LEARNS HOW ARMY IS CUT BY BUDGET

Fight on Coolidge Navy Policy Continues.

Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—[Special]—Adequate national defense was the topic of a general discussion of and many problems which range all other considerations before the house today. The military affairs committee embarked on an exhaustive inquiry into the general state of the army and in the house proper the drive for a bigger and better navy was continued.

Secretary of War Davis and Major Fox Conner, deputy chief of staff, gave the army investigators a flying start with the assertion that the budget bureau's slashes from the war department appropriations will compel a reduction of 4,985 in the army personnel, now 8,000 below the average strength of the last four years.

Coolidge Stands Pat.

On the floor the controversy over the light cruiser program, on which the big navy members are continuing their fight, was sharply exposed by a letter from President Coolidge to Representative French (Rep., Idaho) in which the executive denied that he has receded from his budget message stand against the building of new cruisers at this time.

The President's approach of the budget bill, including the construction of ten new cruisers and the amendment of Representative Wilson (Rep., Conn.), the Republican floor leader, after a conference with the President, that he will move to amend the pending navy supply bill to provide an initial appropriation for the construction of the new cruisers, was interpreted in the house as indicating a change in the President's policy.

In the letter to Mr. French, however, the President asserts that this is a "confused conclusion," and that his attitude advising against any construction other than the completion of the five 1924 cruisers now under way, and that his stand in negotiations for a second arms limitation conference, remains unchanged.

Calls Arms Meet Foes.

"Let me tell you something about that conference," declared Representative Britton (Rep., Ill.). "I think it is a farce and a joke. There will never be any agreement from that kind of a conference composed of nations, many of them without even a voice in the house, who are voting their districts to limit naval armament for peace but because of their political tie with one nation or another."

Poland and Czechoslovakia were examples cited by Mr. Britton of countries without navies who would have an equal voice with the United States in any conference which may be counted upon to vote as France, who has bound herself by treaty, dictates. He declared that the Washington arms conference was a "blunder" which permitted other nations to profit by our "costly experience."

Says Coolidge Is Wrong.

"I say to the President," continued Mr. Britton, after he had asserted that the President could not be expected to know as much of the navy's problems as members of the house committee and other navy students, "that I want to follow him, but when he is wrong I refuse to follow and I think he is wrong in this instance. If we do not appropriate until some agreement is made, the limitation of armaments, we will find ourselves in a sixth place among the navies of the world."

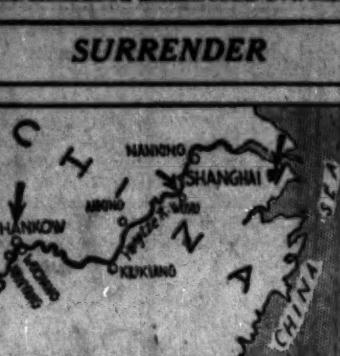

Mr. Britton pointed out that Japan has built 12 ships of war to our two since 1922 and declared that in 1931, the United States will have 15 first line cruisers as against 64 in the British navy and 25 in the Japanese.

Cites 54-3 Ratio.

"Are we going to remain below the 54-3 ratio when the Japanese and mine demand action and want their appropriations?" demanded Mr. Britton. "I think we will get them not, notwithstanding the President's very kind letter to Mr. French this morning."

"I am not talking jingo. There is not much of French political influence that indicates a war or any discontent among our friends. But the friends of today are the enemies of tomorrow."

"Most of these nations owe us thousands of millions of dollars and you and I know that when a man owes money he doesn't feel kindly about it. The nation with the biggest guns has been the fewest wars. England, because of her powerful navy, has never been invaded, and if we in this congress have a vote, we will never be invaded either."

29 Obsolete Cruisers.

Analyzing the chart used by Mr. Coolidge yesterday in support of a claim that the United States ranked well in comparison with the navies of the world, Mr. Britton showed that twenty-two of the cruisers cited were at least 20 years old, some of them only half equipped with boilers and some with no boilers at all. Most of them, he asserted, would not "even stand the natives of the Congo," and "not one of them is fit for use as a ship of war."

The house, sitting as a committee of the whole, approved most of the non-controversial items in the appropriation bill before adjournment, including provisions fixing the strength of the navy for the next fiscal year at $2,500,000,000, and 8,710 sailors, substantially the same as at present.

Test Committee.

The first test of strength between the so-called "little" and "big" navy members will come tomorrow afternoon, in addition to the Wilson amendment, another proposing appropriations for the construction of two giant dirigibles will be offered.

Wilson's amendment was introduced by Mr. Wilson (Rep., Idaho) in which he explained that it is an attempt at a compromise within the house between "the group which favors no appropriations for cruisers and that which favors large allotments for this class of ships." The President, Mr. Wilson asserted, is not a party to the compromise.

WEDDING, FREED

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 5.—[Special]—Michael Cudahy, 18 years old, whose plans to wed Marie Astaire of the films were balked at three California courthouses yesterday, was released from Santa Barbara county jail into his mother's custody today.

While he was in the Los Angeles house, his mother, Mrs. Edna Cudahy, widow of the late Jack Cudahy, said: "I am putting Mike to bed to sleep it off." Miss Astaire, who attended Hyde Park High school in Chicago four years ago under the name of Esther Marie von Bremberg, also spoke her mind at her hotel.

"I don't know whether Mike will call me up or not. I suppose his mother will keep him locked up for awhile," she said. "Anyway, the next move is up to Mike."

Miss Astaire said she first met young Cudahy in Chicago three years ago.

CHIEF GUILTY AS SPEED TRAPPER
FIRED BY JUDGE

Chief of Police Bernard Hamlin of Lake Villa, the first official convicted in the campaign against speed traps, was removed from office yesterday by Judge C. C. Edwards of Waukegan.

The order dismissing the chief came after Judge Edwards had overruled a motion for a new trial. Hamlin was accused of accepting a bribe of $1000 which resulted in his conviction by a jury for malfeasance in office.

Arthur Schlauder of Downers Grove testified at the trial that he had been shot at and beaten by the chief and two other policemen. His story was corroborated by Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Lovens of Forest Park, who witnessed the arrest. Two of four shots fired by Schlauder struck their car, they said.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Valanta and Policeman Lyle Litwiler of Lake Villa are awaiting trial.

LOSES HER SHARE OF $2,000,000 ESTATE BY BECOMING A NUN

New York, Jan. 5.—[U. S. N. Y.]—Due to the tenets of her creed has cost Miss Grace Minford, daughter of the late Lewis W. Minford, wealthy sugar broker, a share in her father's $2,000,000 estate.

Grace, who continues to lead the chaste life of a nun in the house of the Dominican Sisters at Newark, N. J., Miss Minford is disinherited under the terms of her father's will which was filed for probate this afternoon.

For any of my daughters be inmates of or domiciled in any Roman Catholic institution, parishes, convent or home," the will stated, "the provisions hereinafter made shall not be operative, nor shall they receive any benefits provided thereto."

Minford, who died in Diehl, N. J., in 1908, was known as the dean of the New York sugar barons. The will was made June 2, 1904, two years before Grace, in defiance of her father's wishes, entered the New Jersey convent.

BRITISH CABINET FACES SPLIT ON ROW OVER RUSSIA

Foreign Chief to Quit if Soviet Break Comes.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, Jan. 5.—A split in the British cabinet over relations with Moscow is imminent. The cabinet, which can only be averted if one or the other parties makes a complete break.

With the exception of Foreign Secretary Sir Austen Chamberlain and Prime Minister Baldwin the cabinet is now unanimously in favor of breaking off relations with Soviet Russia. This morning the cabinet decided to call a general strike, but Mr. Baldwin, who always argued it would be a bad time to do anything which might cause even the slightest loss of trade.

Churchill Leads Anti-Russian.

The question has been revived now by the anti-Russian in the cabinet, whose leaders are Winston Churchill and Lord Birkenhead, who are insisting that the only reply to Moscow is to break off all relations.

Sir Austen is standing like a rock against this policy, and he is supported by the foreign office. The British charge d'affaires in Moscow insists conditions in Russia are improving and to break off now would only be playing into the hands of the extreme communists of Russia.

Chamberlain Threatens to Quit.

Sir Austen has declared he will resign from office rather than sign a note breaking off relations. He has gone the length of writing statements to India and other administrators saying he regarded the preservation of peace in Europe, toward which his Russian policy tends, even more important than the preservation of the empire. Some of these letters have been sent to his opponents by the recipients, who declare they are little better than treason.

Members Sworn In and Officers Elected.

BY JOHN HERRICK.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Echoes of old political battles, one of which disrupted the original Lundin-Small-Thompson machine, were heard in the Illinois statehouse today as Gov. Small read parts of his biennial message at the opening of the senate, and five "citizens of Illinois."

Important opinions from the manuscript were soon being discovered as printed copies of the message were distributed among the members. Smiles were visible and some chuckles were heard among the remnants of the old old-Small brigade as they saw that at least one omission was highly interesting.

Message Revives Lundin Scheme.

The printed pamphlet contained what these hostiles considered an announcement that the governor has at least a glimmering hope of reviving the Lundin state tax commission scheme. It was the fight over a bill that this character, intended to place state control over local tax officials throughout the state in the hands of the governor, that created the first break in the old Thompson organization in 1921.

In those days it came to a halt and it will stay at a standstill for the coming two weeks, thanks to the house Democrats, led by Lee O'Neill Brown of Ottawa. He has been planned to adjourn next Tuesday. Mr. Brown and his cohort made it Tuesday after next, Jan. 18.

Leaders Hold Court.

Early this morning the two legislative chambers on either side of the state house began to fill. More time is as the hour drew closer to noon. In the house, Michael L. Igoe of Chicago, minority leader, leaned against the railing of the clerk's semi-circular desk and held a small court of his own. On the other side of the room, Rev. C. C. Lewis, Western Union floor leader, was the center of a small crowd of adherents of the other persuasion.

On the senate side the spectators were craning their necks to view the only two organized delegations that had descended on the war for Lowell B. Mason of Oak Park, whose election is being contested by Warren Phinney; the other for Hoy C. Woods of Chicago and led by Abe Arends. Opened With Prayer.

At noon, the Rev. E. B. Rogers, in the house, and Rev. Albert W. Palmer, in the senate, prayed for divine guidance and asked that the common weal of the people of the state be uppermost in the minds of the legislature.

Chief Justice Clyde E. Stone, escorted by committees, visited first one chamber, then the other, and administered the oath to new members.

Flowers, pins and see-saws, were everywhere about. Unconsciously, the death of women members. In the house Mrs. Rena Elrod and Mrs. Katherine Hancock Goods of Chicago, and Mrs. Little Holman O'Neill of Downer Grove, all three Republicans and veterans, and two new Democrats, Sarah Bond Bullock of Milwaukee and Mrs. Mary C. McDonald of Quincy. In the senate Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohem of Bloomington was commencing her second session.

Officials Are Elected.

The next hour, by routine, Senator Barr was formally elected president pro tem of the senate; Senator John T. Denly, the post of minority leader. Senator Schenck of Chicago took the gavel for short time as temporary speaker of the house, and they began the halloing for speaker. Every one knew what the result would be, and it was.

Robert Scholz of Peoria, 91 votes; Michael L. Igoe of Chicago, 59 votes. The senate came in and heard Gov. Small read his message.

NEW WARASH AGENTS NAMED.

C. H. Simon, freight traffic manager for the Illinois Central, has been appointed as G. G. Early and R. A. Belding as freight agents and L. E. Charsan to succeed Mr. Belding as industrial agent.

Message by Small Revives
Old Lundin State Tax Plan

(By A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Echoes of old political battles, one of which disrupted the original Lundin-Small-Thompson machine, were heard in the Illinois statehouse today as Gov. Small read parts of his biennial message at the opening of the senate, and five "citizens of Illinois."

laws of other states, with power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths, and compel production of papers in order to determine in what way our present tax laws could be amended.

He did not name the method for appointing the commission, but said that it includes the Speaker of the house, the president pro tem of the senate, and five "citizens of Illinois."

Admits 1924 Roads Error.
The governor did read another part of his message which was of political interest. His platform in 1924 contained chiefly of a map showing hard roads, crisscrossing the state, and a highway. The implication was that the Lundin state tax commission scheme. It was the fight over a bill that this character, intended to place state control over local tax officials throughout the state in the hands of the governor, that created the first break in the old Thompson organization in 1921.

In those days C. V. Barrett of the Cook county board of review came to the rescue of the Lundin-Small machine. He left the Thompson fold and later was taken by other city hall chiefs until the organization broke down, except for those parts that transferred to the Lundin-Small state machine.

Asks "Research" Commission.
In his printed message today the governor did not mention any tax commission, but he did refer to a 1921 message on that subject. What he does now is to urge the creation of a research commission to investigate tax

"A Man May Know— But A Woman Knows Better!"

SO runs a Chinese proverb that is many centuries old. But any modern merchant who sells anything to women will most heartily agree.

Women are always keener judges of value than men. A man's first thought is usually price—but a woman thinks naturally in terms of value. What is a bad style worth to a woman? She knows that it is not what she pays but what she gets that makes real value.

Delineator is written and edited for discriminating women who know exactly what they want and are willing to pay a fair price for it. This applies to the magazine they read as well as to the purchases that it guides them in making.

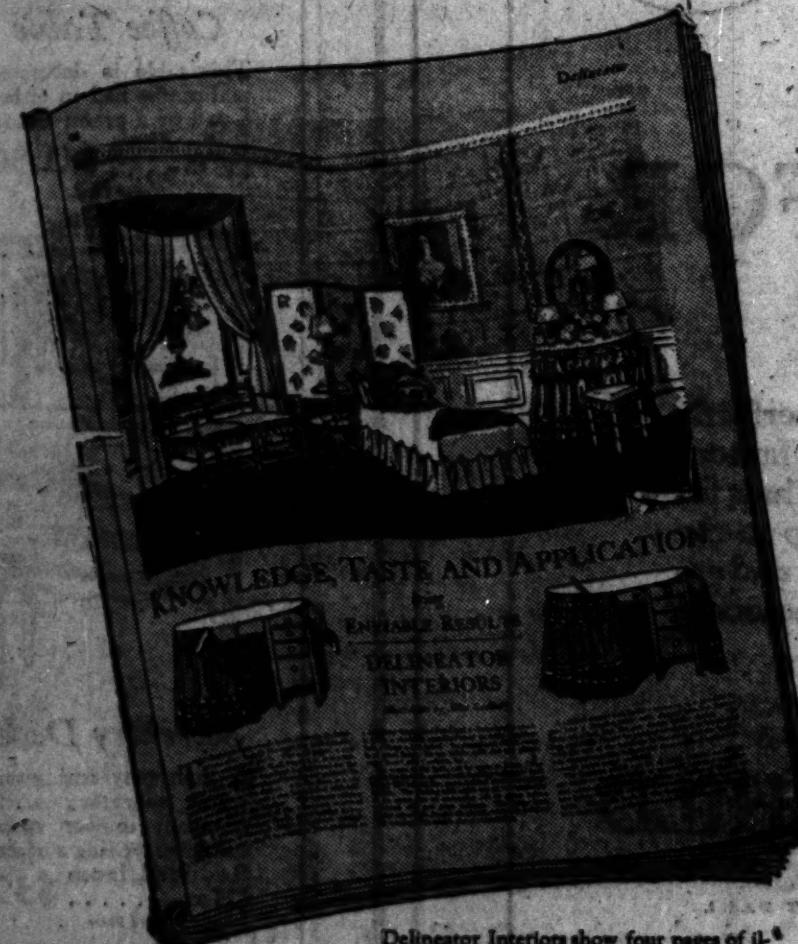

Delineator costs a little more than other women's magazines. Every month more than a million and a quarter women pay the price that says Delineator is worth the difference to them.

By a consistently selective editorial policy Delineator set out to interest a definite following among the women of this country—the wives and daughters of substantial families with discriminating tastes and the means to gratify them. The number of such women is proving larger than we anticipated. And they have been even quicker than we hoped to recognize that the improved Delineator gives them precisely what they want and need in a woman's magazine.

SMITH, GOULD, NEWBERRY, LORIMER AND VARE.

The people of Maine elected Gould to the United States senate and there are senators who would not have his credentials accepted because he protected an investment in the Canadian province of New Brunswick by giving money to the prime minister. Mr. Gould said he was held up. Some senators say he should be kept out.

The people of Illinois elected Frank L. Smith to the senate after he had won a primary election with a campaign fund taken largely from three public utility men whose business he controlled as a state officer. There is an Illinois law which prohibits such an official from accepting gratuities, gifts, money, fees, etc. That law was violated and otherwise the act was unscrupulously out of all regard for even tolerable public conduct.

The people of Pennsylvania elected Vare to the senate and there are senators who will try to prevent him from representing the state which elected him. Proceeding these three pending cases there was the Newberry contest which came to an end when the senator elected by the people of Michigan resigned. Before that was Lorimer who was elected by votes purchased to elect him in the Illinois legislature. The senate once voted that Mr. Lorimer should keep his seat and then, with the case reopened, voted to expel him, and that was done.

None of these cases is similar to any other, although that of Newberry and Vare most nearly approach on a parallel. The Maine election is not questioned. Gould is not charged with a violation of American law, state or federal. The charge against him virtually is that he was forced into Canadian politics in such a fashion as to be ineligible for an office obtained in American politics.

Smith is charged by Senator McKellar with violating an Illinois law when his campaign fund was derived from the utilities. That was used to get him the nomination. The nomination was in fact the election but the Supreme court has held that congress cannot pass laws regulating state primaries. Nevertheless, Senator McKellar holds that the violation of the state law in the process of getting into the senate and the scandalous impropriety of the political offense makes Smith clearly ineligible. In this Senator McKellar has many supporters in the senate.

Lorimer's was proved to be a bought election without involving him personally in the transactions which got him Democratic votes. Newberry, opposed by an organization with great resources, was accused of excessive expenditures in getting the nomination. His enemies did not say that the money was spent corruptly. In effect, Senator Newberry was accused of having bought too many postage stamps, rented too many halls, spent too much on traveling expenses and hotel bills for his campaigners and for other purposes required to present his candidacy to the people. These advantages, his enemies in the senate held by inference, should be possessed only by politicians enjoying patronage supported by public funds and by organizations created for nonpolitical purposes but fitted to be used politically, such as the Henry Ford organization.

Vare was accused of excessive expenditure. He was opposed for the Republican nomination by Pinchot, the governor of the state and a dry, and by Pepper, the sitting senator, a dry-wet, with Andrew Mellon of the treasury department and head of the prohibition enforcement supporting him and with federal patronage back of him. He ran in a primary campaign which cost the three candidates $2,777,000 and his expenditures were less than half of Pepper's. He could not get any newspaper support in the state. He was a wet, out and out. He was opposed by all the law enforcement officers, both state and federal, and by a relaxing of law enforcement. Where the Pepper organization controlled, the police were used against him. Where the Pinchot organization controlled, both state and local officers were used against him, and federal officers were piled on top of that. Prohibition laws were relaxed to get votes against the man who wanted to abolish the law.

The least favored candidate won against the heaviest odds of organization, officialdom, and money and because he did his enemies in the senate, the men who would have backed Pepper or the men who would have backed Pinchot, say he is unfit to sit in the senate.

He fought fire with fire. Unless he had done so he would not have had a Chinaman's chance, as every one in the senate knows. The conditions in which that campaign had to be made were established by official power and patronage in the state. Vare was licked before he started unless he fought back.

Some of the opinion in the senate is that he always had the honorable privilege of being defeated by men who were too honorable to have the methods which defeated him questioned. That opinion claims an additional morality because it is dry.

SOME APPARENTLY PERTINENT WATERWAY QUESTIONS.

The sanitary district of Chicago built the drainage canal to keep the city water supply pure in Lake Michigan. The city is now installing other processes of sewage disposal, and the question of water diversion for the preservation of health will be a less consequential one in the future. The canal is part of the gulf waterway.

The state of Illinois is building another stretch of the waterway from the canal at Lockport to Utica, on the Illinois river. For this purpose the state authorized the issue of $20,000,000 in bonds. This project includes the development of water power and the revenue from the development was to pay off the bonds.

The federal government is required in the present river and harbors bill to continue the waterway from Utica to Grafton, and for that purpose $3,500,000 is appropriated. Nothing in the provisions gives the sanitary district, the state, or the waterway itself authority to divert water from Lake Michigan through the Chicago river. It is this question that the enemies of Chicago, the valley states, and the gulf waterway make their fight, regardless of equities, unchallengeable engineering possibilities, and sectional rights.

A nine foot waterway without water might result from the success of this opposition, and that suggests some queries. If the water is cut off, how will the state of Illinois reimburse itself for its expenditure in the waterway? Can it levy taxes for this purpose? If so, is it willing to do so? Or is the United States government, which may ruin the project by denying the water, willing to shoulder the whole bill for a waterway and water power development for which it would not grant adequate water?

ELECTION FRAUDS UNPUNISHED.

The Citizens' association called attention a few days ago to the fact that the 200 men indicted for election frauds last summer have not been brought to trial. The association finds the situation alarming. It is. Unless the guilty are punished, any one can conclude that stuffing the ballot boxes, intimidating voters, and fraudulent counting are approved practices in this community. Of course, only the gullible and their political allies will draw the inference. The failure to prosecute will not influence the conduct of election officials in such districts as Hyde Park or Rogers Park. They will continue to make honest returns. The failure to prosecute is an invitation to the worst elements in the population to steal control of the city government, including the police department and the treasury.

NOT FORGETTING LAKE COUNTY.

The vigorous campaign for public parks in McHenry county calls attention again to the failure of Lake county to do anything in this direction. The effort to establish a forest preserve district in Lake failed a number of years ago. It is surprising that the citizens of that county have accepted that defeat as final and irrevocable. It need not be and it ought not be.

Every reason which prompts the forsworn property owners of McHenry county to petition for the creation of a park district applies with even greater force to Lake county, whose population is growing more rapidly because it is closer to the heart of the city and because it contains the industrial community around Waukegan. A prudent's vision is not needed to foresee the need for parks and preserves in Lake county. Ordinary business judgment should suffice.

There are dunes and flats near Waukegan which are still in their natural state. Industry is encroaching upon them. Their value is growing, and unless they are quickly acquired the price will become prohibitive. These shore lands constitute an admirable site for rest and recreation and, if their wild life can be preserved, a laboratory for the naturalist. Other parks should be established among the rolling hills to the west and among the lakes with their lotus beds. There are skeletoons at the south end of the county which offer a landscape of quiet charm. Lake county has patches of timberland which would attract tourists from miles around.

The effort to create a park district a number of years ago failed because the property owners had not been educated in the need for parks and in their power to enhance property values. It is surprising that the business men of Lake county have allowed their interest in the project to evaporate.

POLITICS AND STATE UNIVERSITIES.

(The Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Republican.) The states which have been so unfortunate as to have had political disasters in their recent elections, have sought to sustain their destructive criticism of their political institutions in order to promote their own political fortunes, have suffered more than the average person can understand. An educational institution makes up the outstanding figures on college faculties may be and often are what we call temperamental; nevertheless, they are among the most useful men in the world. They will not stand nagging, and they will not put up with illegitimate interference with their work; they do not have to. Other institutions, if not industry, are bidding for their services. They go away, and when the executives or governing bodies seek to fill their places, they find that the men they want to get will not even listen to them. To do what the late governor of Kansas attempted to do in that state a few years ago, when the state legislature of Washington is attempting to do in that state, has the effect on a university as a smallpox infection on a house. It is a notice to those who value their reputation and their peace and happiness to keep out—and they keep out. One pestiferous little know minded politician—it makes precious little difference whether he is honest or dishonest—can do more in a few weeks to ruin the morale and the future of a great educational institution than the most constructive leader can repair in a generation. The only thing to do is to be on guard against this type of people.

SO ON, AD INFINITUM.

A family moved from the city to the suburbs and were told that they ought to get a watchdog to guard the premises at night. So they bought the largest dog that was for sale in the kennels of a nearby dealer.

Shortly afterwards the house was entered by burglars, who made a good haul while the dog slept.

The householders went to the dealer and told him about it.

"Well, what you need now," he said, "is a little dog to wake up the big dog."—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

THE HEAVY VS. LIGHT WOOLENS DUEL.

THE master of woolen underwear is causing some stir in Great Britain as well as among the readers of this column. Leonard Hill, one of the best men over there, advises underwear to wear light, rather porous underwear, so as to give the body a good deal of breathing through the skin. This is interfered with by heavy clothing. Jordan Hill at Utica, says that breathing through the skin was all bosh, and adding a few personal slams directed at Hill.

Hill replies that breathing through the skin is not the scientific sense, is not all bosh. Some sort of the gaseous waste of the body is thrown off by the skin.

Leaving aside the personalities and the question of excretion of waste gases from the skin, one is surprised at Hill's failure to realize that the skin nerves are the real arbiters. He has always a good nose, and is well educated, and good and not chemistry is the main consideration. There are many thousand nerve endings in the skin, and in ventilation the supreme necessity is that these nerve endings should be kept happy.

The British wear heavier clothes than we do. That is one reason I figured as how it was time to sit down with the C and talk over money matters for 1927. Effort to Hide Victim.

Something new in murderers' methods was discovered when the body of Theodore Anton, proprietor of the Cleo Hotel, was found in a shallow grave yesterday afternoon in Burnside. For the first time since booze gangsters have been killing each other an earnest attempt was made to prevent discovery of a victim's body.

Anton's body was covered with lime, in the apparent expectation that in this way identification would be hampered. A paper bag containing lime was drawn over the head before the body was buried.

And from this attempt at concealment of the crime there came a clew. The name of Meyer Davis company, 1238 Roosevelt road, printed on the bag, suggested that the lime had been purchased at that store.

How Body Was Identified.

The lime had been partially effective. The lime had been recognizable, but nevertheless the calcified bones were proof of the identity. And more, a ring on the right hand contained his name and the maiden name of his wife, Irene Tous.

The third finger of the right hand had been cut off. Anton wore a $1.50 diamond ring on this finger. Also he had a $20.00 in his pocket when last seen alive. This was gone.

Anton's disappearance was reported on Nov. 28. The first official opinion was that he had been taken for a ride.

On Dec. 3 Anton's coat was found on the bank of a creek a mile west of Des Plaines.

Rope Reveals Hiding Place.

The indications of yesterday were that Anton's body had first been thrown into a creek and then the lime was removed and taken to the other end of the county for burial in lime, because a rope was fastened to one of the thighs, suggesting that by this means it was hauled out of the water.

It was this rope that led to the finding of the body. Three boys, Eugene Wall, 14, of 1807 30th street, and Felix and Adolph Florick of 19228 Entre street, were passing through a prairie near the Calumet river and noticed the bullet in the head was located by Dr. M. L. Trainer, coroner's physician. It had been fired in the left eye.

Anton owned the Hawthorn hotel and the Anton hotel. Al Brown, alias Capon, with his gang, were guests of the hotels until recently. Brown was

The judges of the Criminal court, at the request of Chief Justice William J. Lindsay, have agreed to try two Negroes in the most important cases. The first results of the campaign became apparent yesterday with a verdict of death against a Negro, a 14 year term against another defendant, and the opening of the trial of two other alleged murderers, one of whom is a woman.

Oscar Quarles, 21 years old, colored, was found guilty by a jury in Judge Philip L. Sullivan's court after a speedy trial and for the second time a jury fixed his punishment at death. He was convicted of the murder of Morris Dushoff, 200 East 50th street, during the robbery of an Atlantic and Pacific Tea company store last April. Dushoff was a customer. Quarles was convicted by a jury in Judge William V. Brothers' court last fall, but was granted a new trial.

S. TROOPS IN NICARAGUA WILL OCCUPY CAPITAL

Coolidge Lifts Our Arms Embargo.

BY GERALD MARTIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Copyright: 1927. By The Chicago Tribune.]

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 5.—President Coolidge will use all his executive powers to enforce the petroleum law. The foreign oil companies now operating on the lands to which they have according to that law, no legal right, having failed to apply for concessions, will be forced to do so. Those failing to apply for concessions in the specified time must forfeit their lands. The president's decision forecasts a protracted legal battle between these companies and the Mexican government.

It is expected that the oil companies will seek injunctions against the discrimination proceedings. Automatically the dispute between them and the Mexican government will thus be thrown into the Supreme's court. There it may wage for many months if not for years. Meanwhile, if they continue to extract oil from the properties they occupy illegally, they face federal suits for indemnification.

Officers in Command.

The officers accompanying the naval men are: Commander W. K. Richardson; Lieutenant Commander Surgeon W. E. Crooks; Lieutenant H. B. McGee, Ensign Asbell, and Captain J. W. Knighton, U. S. Navy.

Colonel Calvin Brooks Carter of Texas, commanding the Nicaraguan national guard, will welcome them on their arrival at Managua with an honor guard of the Nicaraguan national guard and a national band, escorting them to the Campo de Mayo, where originally was the headquarters of the marines and which has been prepared to accommodate them, as it looks like a long stay.

Liberals Are Defiant.

"While the naval men's arrival is heralded in government quarters and newspapers joyfully, the Liberals apparently are defiant and it is possible there will be fighting in the interior. Many good and professional servicemen in the state department's attitude in sending the naval men here," President Diaz said. "It is another friendly manifestation by the American people and means early peace and prosperity in Nicaragua, which is threatened by civil war openly instigated, financed, and supplied with war materials from Mexico."

The United States has given proofs to Nicaragua of its disinterested friendship and my government is fully confident that these measures will rebound to the country's universal benefit."

LIFTS ARMS EMBARGO.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—(Special.)—President Coolidge today informed in Nicaragua to aid the Diaz regime in its struggle to crush the revolutionary liberal government set up by Dr. Juan B. Sacasa.

After a period of continual protest, the President lifted the embargo on the shipment of arms to the Diaz government, ordered marines and blue jackets to Managua, the Nicaraguan capital, and announced that the revolutionary forces would no longer be allowed to use neutralized zones on the eastern coast as bases of supply.

President Diaz's action ended all doubt as to the administration's policies in Nicaragua and made it clear that American forces will be utilized, not only to protect American lives and property in Nicaragua, but also to insure the protection of the Panama Canal.

Requests of the British and Italian legations in Managua for protection was one of the factors in the dispatch of marines to that point. The Italian and British diplomatic representatives reported to Charles C. Eberhard, American minister, that the consuls and their subordinates in danger. Admiral Richardson, chief of the special service division in Central American waters, urged the landing of marines.

Accommodating Neighbor Out $17 for C.O.D. Package

Fred Dabeloch, 2502 North Halsted street, reported to the Sheffield avenue police last night that he is out as a result of his desire to be accommodating to his neighbors. A youth came to Dabeloch's door and informed him he had a C.O.D. package to deliver to Mrs. Marion J. Baldwin, who lives on the second floor, but who has not. Later Dabeloch took the package upstairs and when Mrs. Baldwin told him she expected no such package they opened it and found two empty boxes.

Foreign Oil Men in Mexico Face Eviction from Lands

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mexico City, Mex., Jan. 5.—President Calles will use all his executive powers to enforce the petroleum law. The foreign oil companies now operating on the lands to which they have according to that law, no legal right, having failed to apply for concessions, will be forced to do so. Those failing to apply for concessions in the specified time must forfeit their lands. The president's decision forecasts a protracted legal battle between these companies and the Mexican government.

It is expected that the oil companies will seek injunctions against the discrimination proceedings. Automatically the dispute between them and the Mexican government will thus be thrown into the Supreme's court. There it may wage for many months if not for years. Meanwhile, if they continue to extract oil from the properties they occupy illegally, they face federal suits for indemnification.

Officers Revert to State.

According to the petroleum law the small deposits of these lands are to be turned over to the federal government on Jan. 1.

President Calles yesterday took the initial steps to compel the recalcitrant companies to comply with the law. He issued instructions to the ministry of industry, commerce, and labor to instruct the attorney general to file a lawsuit against all companies which had failed to apply for concessions confirming their pre-constitutional titles. His order read:

"In accordance with article 27 of the constitution and with article 15 of the law concerned, I bring to the attention of the attorney general the responsibility of the persons or companies who failed to solicit, within the time specified by the law referred to, the principal business houses and later retiring in a southern direction. The same group yesterday burned several bridges at the South Leon station.

The Mexican government has received a warning from California that an American will cross the border into Mexico to commit a crime, the nature of which is unknown, but which is believed to be the assassination of some one in Mexico.

"Huge depots of arms have been discovered by the United States secret service in Nicaragua, causing the Americans grave anxiety," says the paper.

"These for the most part were delivered from Europe, chiefly Belgium. For whom and what purpose?" In these questions the White House and United States war department are chagrined. "Are they for the Japanese or for the Mexicans?" That is the question.

"Meanwhile, the uprising of the Mexican rebels in the north gives promise of a renewal of the oil concession conflict."

Referee O'Conor adjourned the meeting until next Monday.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid Arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and run it gently with your fingers. If not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find too, after all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid Arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you need. This simple remedy never fails.

3 POINTS BLOCK AGREEMENT ON UNIFIED TRANSIT

Ordinance Completed for Council to Consider.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Three major points remain to be agreed upon by the representatives of the city and the street car and elevated companies on an indeterminate franchise providing for consolidation of all lines in one corporation. They have agreed upon an entire ordinance, with those three substantial sections, and other sections to report those three disagreements to the session in 1921, and more recently at an important conference in London, is touring Canada and the United States, giving addresses on the work done in those sessions.

WHY Arrive This Morning.

He will arrive on a special train at the Polk street station this morning at 6 o'clock, and will remain in the city until tonight.

Premier Bruce was admitted to the English bar in 1898 following his graduation from the Cambridge university, and later served in the British army during the world war. He saw active service at Gallipoli, was twice wounded during other conflicts, and received the Croix de Guerre. He held the rank of colonel.

In Politics Since 1917.

He returned to Australia in 1917, entering politics and was elected in 1918 to the Commonwealth House of Representatives. He retained this seat in later elections. During a business trip to London, he was asked by the government to represent Australia at the assembly of the League of Nations in 1921. He was appointed treasurer of the Commonwealth later that year and held the position until February, 1925, when he was sworn in as prime minister and minister for external affairs.

The ordinance as drawn contains an indeterminate franchise granted to the city. The representatives of the companies desire that the franchise shall continue during a good behavior of the company. Mr. Bruce contends that the franchise should also be terminated, if the city decides to buy and handle over the cash or if it also may be terminated if the city selects another company to take over the franchise and pay the agreed price for it.

The third contention relates to paving streets, repair of pavements, cleaning of streets and removal of snow. The companies desire to be relieved of those obligations, while the city representatives want them continued.

Prepare Alternate Provisions.

The conference dissolved with the agreement that alternate provisions shall be prepared expressing the views of each group.

Chairman McDonough of the local transportation committee said that his colleagues are getting anxious to know in detail just what the lawyers have agreed to among themselves. He proposes that the lawyers shall sit in daily and explain each and every provision so that every member of the committee will know in advance just what he is voting upon.

It is also expected that within a few days the Ligman plan will be in final shape for aldermanic consideration.

"That's perfectly natural, Madam—many others think the same thing."

"But I would never have believed the Panatrophe could be so perfect if I hadn't heard it. I know nothing about electric sound transmission, but the results are marvelous. No phonograph ever gave music like this!"

"And what a lovely piece of furniture! The Victor Orthophonics are wonderful, too."

REVIEW GROWTH OF WARD & CO. ON 54th ANNIVERSARY

Entering its 54th year yesterday, Montgomery Ward & Co. surveyed its mammoth self and officials recalled that the company had grown to its present proportions from a 12 by 12 room at 508 North Clark street 54 years ago. It now has seven great structures in the United States, with a floor space of more than 100 acres.

And if the company has grown in size since, it has not increased in size, the officials pointed out. For while 54 years ago it had a dozen or so customers, yesterday it had some 5,000,000 American families on its lists and thousands of foreign customers.

Executives discovered the day while rummaging through the company's files.

Edward Baker Denies He Broke Up Kraft Home

Edward Baker, wealthy resident of St. Charles, Ill., named Dec. 24, 1926, in the divorce suit of Mrs. Vera Kraft against Joseph Kraft, yesterday issued a statement through his attorney, State's Attorney Charles L. Abbott of Kane county, denying that he had broken up the Kraft home, as Kraft had indirectly intimated at the divorce hearing of Dec. 24, which Judge G. F. Ruth halted for want of equity. He declared that he never gave Mrs. Kraft a fur coat or any other present, that he never was in an automobile with her, that he met her only twice, through members of her family, that on the two occasions he did meet her, his wife was present, and that he knew nothing of their marital troubles.

The ordinance as drawn contains an indeterminate franchise granted to the city. The representatives of the companies desire that the franchise shall continue during a good behavior of the company. Mr. Bruce contends that the franchise should also be terminated, if the city decides to buy and handle over the cash or if it also may be terminated if the city selects another company to take over the franchise and pay the agreed price for it.

The third contention relates to paving streets, repair of pavements, cleaning of streets and removal of snow. The companies desire to be relieved of those obligations, while the city representatives want them continued.

Prepare Alternate Provisions.

The conference dissolved with the agreement that alternate provisions shall be prepared expressing the views of each group.

Chairman McDonough of the local transportation committee said that his colleagues are getting anxious to know in detail just what the lawyers have agreed to among themselves. He proposes that the lawyers shall sit in daily and explain each and every provision so that every member of the committee will know in advance just what he is voting upon.

It is also expected that within a few days the Ligman plan will be in final shape for aldermanic consideration.

Mr. Bruce, who represented the Commonwealth of Australia at the assembly of the League of Nations in 1921, and more recently at an important conference in London, is touring Canada and the United States, giving addresses on the work done in those sessions.

WHY Arrive This Morning.

He will arrive on a special train at the Polk street station this morning at 6 o'clock, and will remain in the city until tonight.

Premier Bruce was admitted to the English bar in 1898 following his graduation from the Cambridge university, and later served in the British army during the world war. He saw active service at Gallipoli, was twice wounded during other conflicts, and received the Croix de Guerre. He held the rank of colonel.

In Politics Since 1917.

He returned to Australia in 1917, entering politics and was elected in 1918 to the Commonwealth House of Representatives. He retained this seat in later elections. During a business trip to London, he was asked by the government to represent Australia at the assembly of the League of Nations in 1921. He was appointed treasurer of the Commonwealth later that year and held the position until February, 1925, when he was sworn in as prime minister and minister for external affairs.

Elmer Gives Trivial Radio Notes the Air

Then Enjoys, Praises More Serious Things.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.
Elmer enjoys radio from the lightest of popular thins to the heaviest of modern compositions.

We are first interested in the stirring, first class WJZ, New York, orchestra program through KYN, 8 to 6. One couldn't ask for anything more enjoyable. The numbers by the orchestra were the charming rhythmic combination of literature from the world's most popular songs.

Elmer's tenor soloist, in his several songs of concert order, aroused warmest admiration for the sweetness, without sentimentality, of his voice and exuberant vocal style.

Fortunately indeed for the advanced musical portion of the radio audience who heard the violin piano sonata program of Chicago composers given by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dolnick, WMAG, 8 to 9:30—the final of the series, unfortunately. The composers were Eric Delamarre, Paul Heil, and Rosette Colletti.

Delamarre's sonata, in three movements, opens somewhat elegiac, harmonious, and treacherous with feeling, developing into one branch of the modern tendencies—broken melody, the piano accompaniment being variegated and quite contrapuntal. The work is both thoughtful and engaging. "Solemn" is the word for the occasion. Ultra modern, typically Russian; terribly heavy and complex, with ancient modes and those of his own invention; changing, discordant bell tones; in fact, throughout the first two movements chose.

The last movement was a one minute scherzo, so happy, technically interesting, gismando tricks and other tricks.

The above two works are only for mature musicians to interpret and for a musically mature audience.

Last night, too, so terribly many soloists, Cole, with a relief—grief-filled, rich and sonorous accompaniment; the work swinging repeatedly from the light and graceful to the grand and massive, making it easy and beautiful for the mind's song frolic. An absorbing work.

Considerably easier than the above to listen to, though not so terribly easy to follow, John Lingeman's violin recital, WZER, 8 to 9:30. This, unfortunately, was the last recital by Mr. Lingeman for some six weeks, during which he is on tour.

For thoroughly popular enjoyment, the Arabian Nights' entertainment, W-ARAB, 8:45 to 10. Fortunately, they stay with us.

POLITE YOUTHS
ROB AILING OLD
MAN IN HOME

Two dapper young men last night entered the home of William B. Kane, 715 South Ashland boulevard. While one held two servants at bay with a revolver, the other robbed Kane of $1,100 in cash. Kane is a manufacturer of men's ready-to-wear.

Mr. Edward MacLean, housekeeper, answered the doorbell and the youths politely asked to see Mr. Kane. She left them in. While one pointed a revolver first at her and then at Thomas Brzowski, houseman, the other youth ran upstairs to the bedroom where Kane lay sick. He forced Mr. Kane, who is 75 years old, to tell him where he had hidden money. Then both robbers escaped after threatening the servants if they informed the police.

The robbers were described as well dressed youths about 25 years old. They both wore smoked glasses. Maxwell street police believe them to be members of a young west side group known as the 42's.

FASCISTI MUST STOP VIOLENCE, MUSSOLINI EDICT

Orders Prefects to Guard Other Nations' Agents.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

ROME, Jan. 5.—Rowdyism and "mild acts of violence" by small groups must disappear from the Fascist state, Premier Mussolini told the nation today in a circular letter to the prefects of all Italian provinces.

The Duce attacked the reprisals which have followed certain outbreaks and declared the prefects must see to it that they are not repeated.

Prefects, Premier Mussolini referred to "squadism," a word coined recently in Italy to describe the act of "squadristi," or little bands of Fascist strongarm men, who, while important in the days immediately preceding the establishment of the Fascist régime, have now outlived their usefulness.

Most of the squadristi have incorporated into the military, and others, who remained in groups in various parts of the country after the last two attempts on Premier Mussolini's life, bring great discredit on Fascism and the nation.

Highest Authority in Province. Premier Mussolini began his circular with a declaration that the prefect is the highest state authority in a province. He is the direct representative of the central executive power.

"The prefect," the premier went on, "must be very diligent in defending the régime against all classes who attempt to weaken or destroy it. The prefect must wage a wise, intelligent, but stern war against enemies of the régime. I say, sometimes it does not pay to make willing martyrs of innocent, silly individuals."

Sig. Mussolini said that "squadism" in 1927 "is simply a mechanical and sporadic, but respects at moments of possible excitement," adding: "This illegality must disappear."

Democrats Violence End. "Not only that kind of lawlessness due to local miserable acts of violence—ever the party and creates needless dangers of animosities—but also other kinds of lawlessness, which includes cases of grave happenings, must disappear," he continued.

"Above all, whatever happens to me, the projects to prevent by every means, by every means, even the simplest shadow of violence against the residences of foreign representatives. Relations between nations are too delicate."

The premier concluded with a warning about the care of public moneys. The prefect must "put out of business" bandits, profiteers, swindlers, self-advertisers, impostors, weaklings, Park police.

CAPT. ROSS DIES; ONCE HARRIED GREAT LAKES ON BOLD PIRATE CRAFT

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 5.—(UPI)—Days of the corsair were recalled today with the death of Capt. David H. Ross, first mate of the only pirate ship that ever sailed the great lakes. Ross died yesterday at his home here at the age of 82.

Ross entered the civil war with the confederates when he was 19 years old. He was captured at Fort Sumter and for nine months was held prisoner by the Yankees. Escaping from prison, he fled to Canada and joined the pirate adventure engineered by Capt. John Yeates Beall.

They captured the Philo Parsons, a big side-wheeler plying between Detroit and Chicago, and when over 150 passengers on the Philo Parsons, she quickly surrendered to the pirates, each of whom flashed a brace of pistols. The men passengers were driven into the hold. Thirty women aboard were banqueted in high style.

Next the Island Queen, with 150 federal soldiers aboard, fell victim to the pirates. Premier Mussolini referred to "squadism," a word coined recently in Italy to describe the act of "squadristi," or little bands of Fascist strongarm men, who, while important in the days immediately preceding the establishment of the Fascist régime, have now outlived their usefulness.

"DAILY DOZEN" AND VANITY MIX AS DEATH POTION

Official in Clown Garb Hanged by Exerciser.

BY HENRY WALES.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, Jan. 5.—A simple accident is credited by the authorities with responsibility for a tragedy exceeding in fantastic horror anything resulting from the imaginations of Poe.

Anxiety provoked by his prolonged absence from the office of the ministry of agriculture caused the authorities last night to force entry into the lodgings of Raoul La Chapelle, one of the ministry's department managers.

Dangling gruesomely before a huge full length mirror was the body of M. La Chapelle, garbed grotesquely in white wig, green stockings, a kind of harlequin suit, as though some diabolical master had conceived the hideous notion of dressing up the victim as a clown.

Garroted by Exercising Machine.

Believing themselves in the presence of a crime, the police made a careful investigation, which revealed: The body hanging by a cord which appeared to be part of a regularly installed gymnastic apparatus, an overturned stool on the floor; articles of evening wear, overcoat, silk muffler and high hat upon the hat rack.

With these facts the police pieced together the actual happening, with the aid of his acquaintances supplied concerning the man's character, completely discrediting the suicide or murder presumptions.

Vanity and "Daily Dozen."

Preparing to attend a fancy dress ball during the Christmas fêtes, M. La Chapelle donned the Pierrot costume and other articles of fantastic attire and then, in order to admire himself before going out, climbed on the stool before the mirror, the police decided. Then, in his frantic way, he was a fanatic on physical exercises, he suddenly began doing his daily dozen by means of grips installed on elastic cords running through a pulley in the ceiling. Suddenly he overbalanced, the stool upset, and the rope, slipping off the pulley, caught fast, while the encircling apparatus bound him fast around the neck and choked out his life.

HOFFMAN JURORS ARE GRILLED IN BRIBE INQUIRY

Investigation of the alleged Hoffmann-Druggan-Lake jury bribing scandal yesterday was said to have made little progress, although several jurors were grilled by First Assistant District Attorney Hope Thompson.

Zest was promised for the inquiry when it became known that the investigators may meet judicial criticism for their practice of issuing grand jury subpoenas.

GOVERNORAL BIDS FOR DRY SUPPORT SOUTH AND WEST

Enforce Law, Asks Change of Congress, He Says.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 5.—[Special.]—Gov. Alfred E. Smith made a bid for southern and western support in his seventh annual message to the New York legislature today. New York's first fourth term governor came out flatfooted for dry enforcement in the state, so long as prohibition is still on the land, but he cheered his wet admiringly by urging the legislature to memorialize congress to modify the Volstead act.

The governor made it plain that he is opposed to the Volstead act, desires its repeal, and also defined as intoxicating changed and enlarged to gross to take cognizance of the result of the referendum held in this state last autumn.

But he insists every policeman, sheriff, and every other official must enforce the law. Failure to do so, he said, will result in their summary removal.

Must Turn Effort to Congress.

"At the recent election," the message said, "the people of the state of New York, by 1,164,556 majority, voted for modification of the statute. I believe that the duty now rests upon the legislature to pass suitable resolutions conveying the result of this election to congress, and urging it on behalf of the state of New York to enact at the earliest possible moment a sane, sensible, reasonable definition of what constitutes an intoxicant under the eighteenth amendment so that harmless beverages which our people have enjoyed for more than a century may be restored to them."

"Enforce Law in New York."

"In the meantime, however, it must be borne in mind that until such modification is effective the federal statute and the eighteenth amendment are just as much the law of this state as any of our own state statutes. This has been my stand, set forth by a decision of the United States Supreme court. I again warn sheriffs and peace officers generally that it is their sworn duty to enforce these laws."

COURT UPHOLDS LEGITIMACY OF ANN COOPER HEWITT

New York, Jan. 5.—[Special.]—The legitimacy of Ann Cooper Hewitt as the daughter and heiress of the late Peter Cooper, the philanthropist and inventor, has been upheld by the Appellate division of the Supreme court.

Thus the child of the former Baroness d'Elisler, now reported separated from her fifth and latest husband, George W. C. McLean, son of the East-Stroudsburg, Pa., coalman, is declared by the court to be the legitimate descendant of Abram S. Hewitt, once mayor of New York, and of Peter Cooper, the famous merchant and philanthropist, and an heiress to the trust fund he founded.

The child is now 12 years old—she was born in 1907—and the legal question has been to determine whether this marriage legitimized her status—and by the court's decision she wins one-sixth of the Peter Cooper trust fund.

The trust was not large—it was set at $15,000 in 1907—and the share Peter Cooper Hewitt willed to his daughter was only $25,000.

By her father's will, however, Ann gets more than $1,000,000 of his personal estate, besides his share in the Peter Cooper trust fund.

FOUND IN ALLEY: DIES.

Police of the Harrison street station last night were investigating the case of William H. Williams, 57, of 3757 Illinois, who was found dead in an alley in the county hospital, where he was taken Monday night after he had been found unconscious in an alley.

PROSPERITY FOR 6 MONTHS SURE, TRAYLOR SAYS

Prosperity is practically an assured thing for at least another six months, according to Melvin L. Traylor, president of the First National bank, who, as a member of the weekly luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Mr. Traylor said that the basic elements which precede business depression are not in existence at this time.

The only cautionary signals on the economic horizon at this time are the big increase in deferred payment purchases and the increase in the amount of commercial loans to $425,000,000, compared with deposits of only $300,000,000, he added. He said he has never known of a panic when money rates were as low as 5 per cent, at which they stand at this time.

GANDIL TO SUPPORT RISBERG'S STORY AT HEARING TOMORROW?

U. ATHLETIC CHEFS SEARCH FOR NEW COACH

Seek Successor to Thistlethwaite.

IT WALTER ECKERSALL.
Following the announcement by Little, director of athletics at Wisconsin, that Thistlethwaite of Northwestern will be the new head football coach at the Cardinal institution next fall, Purple authorities have started search for a new gridiron teacher.

The faculty athletic committee will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock to consider some of the outstanding possibilities.

Two Purple coaches

who include men of national reputations.

Several members of the present coaching staff are regarded as possibilities.

The former Michigan

coach, who has coached the Purple

in recent years, spent some time

last year with Athletic Director William and President Scott. Last year he was offered a line coaching position at Harvard and it is understood

Horween, head coach of the team, is again angling for Duke's successor.

Ralph Jones is considered.

Other possibilities for a successor to Thistlethwaite include Ralph Jones, athletic director and coach at Lake Forest Academy. Jones coached basketball at Illinois for 10 years before becoming football coach.

He also is freshman football coach and youth's chief scout. In addition to football and basketball, Jones knows baseball and track. He is the choice of many influential Purple alumni.

For Schissler, present football coach of Oregon Aggies, is another prospect.

He received his athletic training at Wisconsin and after graduation was assistant Little Nineteen champion.

His Oregon Aggies elevens have been among the strongest in the west in recent years.

Hugo Bezedek, director of athletics and football coach at Penn State, is another excellent football man who will be given consideration. Bezedek was a member of the championship Chicago team of 1905. He afterward joined Stagg and then went to the University of Arkansas. After a year in Fayetteville, Hugo went to Franklin.

Wade is Suggested.

Wallace Wade, who developed the western championship team for a year before mentioned along with Thistlethwaite. However, Thistle-thwaite's successor may not be selected for two or three weeks, according to Director Wilson, who asserted the country will be combed for the best available.

Thistlethwaite will leave for Madison, beginning to confer with Director Little regarding future plans. The former Purple coach will receive a salary of $7,500 a year. It was reported in Evanston last night, and the rank professor of physical education. In addition to the annual income, Thistlethwaite will receive $1,000 for summer work, $1,000 for his services to the team. Gies, Will, and Slaughter will be assistant to Director Little and Director Little may take a hand in coaching at times.

Thistlethwaite Regrets Move.

The position of head football coach at the University of Wisconsin is attractive to me because of the fact that it is with a large state university in a location making for successful athletics," Thistlethwaite said last night.
The large number of men he affords a broad field for his plans, however, refusing to say whether or not he was returning to the coaching at times.

"It is with a deep regret that I

SILVER SKATES RACES TO BE HELD ON SIX LAP TRACK

Eight Circuits Planned if Ice Is Soft.

When THE TRIBUNE'S eleventh annual Silver Skates Derby is held in Washington Park on Jan. 22 and 23 the lap track will be used if weather conditions permit. If the ice is too soft to permit the pole of a six lap circuit to be laid close to the shore, then an eight lap course will be skated out.

The west lagoon in the south side park is large enough to permit a six lap track, provided the weather is cold enough to insure firm ice. As the ice becomes soft along the shore on the day of the official surveyors of the Western Skating Association will be prepared to lay out a six lap course.

Print Names on Blanks.

Entries for the eleventh annual Silver Skates Derby are being received in large numbers, and those intending to enter the races are requested to print their names plainly on the blanks appearing on the sports pages. Use of ink causes the writing to blur, and as a result some names may be misspelled in the programs.

When the lists close on Jan. 16 they will be turned over to Harry Berz, chairman of the registration committee of the Western Skating Association, who will determine whether any skaters have falsified regarding their ages and have entered the wrong division. At the same time all skaters' memberships in the western association will be checked, as none will be permitted to race unless they are members of the controlling body of ice racing in this section.

Plane New Composition.

Plans for staging this year's races are being perfected. It will be the first time the event has been held on any except a west side park lagoon. An entry blank appears on the sports pages for the benefit of those who intend to enter the races.

In a conversation with friends here being gave his name to the official ste-mographs and the hearing began.

"Risberg," said Landis, "on New Year's day you made charges about slugged baseball games and a pool which the White Sox raised to pay Detroit for throwing your games. Tell that story again."

Landis sat down at the row of ball players seated in front of him.
There were Eddie Collins and Ray Schalk, his teammates until baseball in 1926 declared him an outcast because of implication in the fake world series of the preceding year.

Ty Cobb, former manager of Detroit, was under a cloud with Ty Cobb on charges of a gambling deal on a fake game. And there were George Daus, the Detroit pitcher, and Clarence Rowland, the former White Sox manager and now an American league umpire.

Keeps Eyes on Rowland.

Risberg fixed his eyes on Rowland
and began:

"In 1918 we were playing Detroit
in the double header. One was on Labor day, the second of September, the other on Sept. 5.

"I was informed by Mr. Clarence Rowland before the series that everything was all fixed, and we won four ball games from Detroit.

"About two weeks afterwards we met in New York. We were in the Ansonia hotel, New York, and we took up a collection of $45 apiece to pay toward the Detroit pitchers, mostly, for slugging that series to the Chicago club in the Chicago games.

"Chick Gandil collected some of the money. I collected a little. 'Red' Pabst was the chief, I think, or five of the Chicago boys. The check was cashed at the Ansonia hotel.

"We later explained this meant himself and Gandil were given permission to go to Philadelphia to give this amount to James [B.] Daus, who was a pitcher on the Detroit team."

"We met James in a room at the Aldin hotel, called James outside into the hall, and gave James the money.
James said 'Howard'—meaning Howard Ehmke—wanted his share. We then went to a saloon around the corner."

That was the text of Risberg's story.

Puzzled by Questions.

Landis then began an examination seemed to baffle Risberg. It continued when Landis tried to pin him to details and Risberg was extremely vague.

Risberg recalled that the remark that he says Rowland made came as the two were approaching the White Sox dugout before the first game of that twin doubleheader. He admitted no mention then was made about money, but said he was not so well who made the suggestion about collecting the pool. Neither could he recall when the money suggestion was first made.

Risberg's only recollection on the raising of the money for the Detroit pitchers was that the collection was brought when the White Sox team reached New York near the end of the season.

Then Landis began asking for statements on what he saw in the alleged framed games that looked peculiar. Risberg's first statement was that the Detroit pitchers were not bunting down. But as the name of the pitchers who worked for Detroit in that four game series were read off to him from the box scores he was unable to point to any one time at which the pitchers eased up.

His one suggestion as to why he batted Detroit was trying to win was that there was a lot of base stealing by the White Sox.

Recalls Collins' Remar.

When Risberg was asked if he heard any remark by a Chicago player during those games which indicated to him that the Chicagoans knew the games were fixed he cited a statement
he said came from Eddie Collins.

At one time in the twin series Ris-berg said Daus, pitcher shortstop for Detroit, hooted ground ball. "It seemed like he was trying to retrieve it again and booted it for the second time," Risberg explained.

"That is when I heard Eddie Collins say: 'That is terrible.'

Landis then said Risberg at any time in the weeks which followed the alleged thrown series and the alleged pay off, he heard any White Sox player
say he was talking about it.

"None of that, gentlemen," Landis
waved his head at Boland, the Tiger
pitcher, then on the stand.

Yale Sports Board Defends Joe Wood —He'll Keep Job

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 5.—"Smoky" Joe Wood, Yale baseball coach and former Cleveland player, is innocent of any wrongdoing in connection with the betting scandal which involved the Cleveland and Detroit clubs of the American league, so far as the Yale Athletic association is concerned.

After an all night session of the association, Prof. George H. Nettleton, chairman of the board of control, today issued this statement:

"The Yale board of control has taken or is now contemplated by the board of control of the Yale University Athletic association to alter its existing relations with Joe Wood. During his term of service at Yale he has confirmed in character and conduct the definite indorsements of the Yale board of control which he has given to the appearance of his athletic coach. The board of control possesses no evidence which,
in its judgment, discredits the honesty and integrity of his past record."

Keeps Eyes on Rowland.

Risberg fixed his eyes on Rowland
and began:

"In 1918 we were playing Detroit

Landis then said Risberg at any
time in the weeks which followed the alleged thrown series and the alleged
pay off, he heard any White Sox player
say he was talking about it.

"None of that, gentlemen," Landis
waved his head at Boland, the Tiger
pitcher, then on the stand.

Landis Ends Wrangle.

Boland turned to Risberg and said:

"You're still a pig."

Risberg retorted and Bush leaped to his feet with the inquiry: "Are you calling me with the white lies you're been talking about?"

"None of that, gentlemen," Landis
waved his head at Boland, the Tiger
pitcher, then on the stand.

All through the afternoon Risberg seemed under nervous restraint. He once was known as a rough and tumble fellow, ready to fight at the slightest provocation.

The list of witnesses yesterday included: Bernard Boland, Harry Heilmann, George Harper, Eddie Murphy, Tom Jourdan, Nemo Liebold, Reb Russell, Dickie Kerr, Urban Faber, Joe Baus, Dave Danforth, Owen Bush, Cas-per Stange, Bert Dyer, George Cunningham, Buck Weaver, Howard Ehmke, John Collins, Bob Veach, and George Daus.

"For God's sake, don't mention that 1917 series."

In his final attempt to explain the motive for his selling out to Detroit the former manager of the White Sox denied that he was in the pennant race in 1918 and added:

"For God's sake, don't mention that 1917 series."

Sox denied that he was in the pen-
nant race in 1918 and added:

Landis then took the witness chair.

He began his answers in even tones, but as the questioning continued his voice grew louder.

Suddenly Landis asked if Collins had contributed $45 to a pool to pay Detroit for "slugging" a series.

Collins jumped to his feet, slapped a check book on Landis' desk, and shouted, his voice breaking with emotion: "I have a check book here which shows the check I cashed in the Ansonia hotel with the notation: 'Give $45 to 'Gandil.' That was after the world series. If he says I gave any money before that time he is a damn liar. The date of the check is Oct. 16."

Collins paused a moment and the piano room silent.

"I returned to Chicago before I heard about any money being raised.
Chick then told me that I had been raised to give Detroit pitchers for winning a series against Boston.
That series helped us in our pennant race."

"I paid that money for that purpose and that purpose only. I never played a crooked ball game in my life nor paid a cent to any team for throwing a game."

After Collins came Schalk.

The dapper little catcher, the new manager of the White Sox, wasn't as vehement as Collins, but he was just as decisive in his story. He denied any knowledge of a crooked series and explained that he contributed to Mr. Risberg that you remarked to him during the play of one of those games,

NAVIGATOR WINS BUSCH HANDICAP AT NEW ORLEANS

Boats Favorite; Pays
$11.60 for $2.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 5.—[Special.] Navigator, sporting the silks of the favorite stable of Mrs. Payne Whitney, gained his first brackets of the Fair Grounds meeting this afternoon, when he romped home in front of a field of eight in the Charles S. Busch handicap, a gallop of a mile and a quarter for 3 year olds and upward, and the leading number of the after-race program.

Visitors to the course were all asked to get their money down on the Goode, a 5 year old, Sir Peter, who was three lengths behind, and they backed him to 7 to 5 past time, while not a little coin was placed on C. E. Durnell's Smiling One at 5 to 2. Navigator was well beaten in the New Years, and apparently needed a race over a distance, as he finished second in the field and his backers the nice price of $11.60 for each $2 investment.

Navigator, with George Ellis wearing the pink silks, ran one of his real races. The son of Broomstick and Aster Crest was away fast from the barrier and opened a good early lead. He ran easily under his 113 pounds, and the 100 yards at the finish was going away to win by two lengths from C. Wissinger's Wissinger.

LETTER, TONE ON FOREIGN BOURSES AND GRAINS HERE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Some betterment in the undertones of foreign markets, with Liverpool a good higher, and Buenos Aires up combined with a slightly less inflation and shorts, a little betterment here with the finish at 50¢ a bushel. May finished at $1.2740, June at $1.2914 @ 1.2939, July at $1.2914 @ 1.2939. Wheat gained 4¢ for the day. Advance corn values were seen by several leading local operators, the upturn led to a fairly general rise and the finish was within the range of the bourse, with no loss of May closing at 75¢ and July 75¢. Wheat off 4¢, with May 49¢ and July 49¢. Rye gained 4¢ to 5¢, with May 49¢ and July 49¢.

Export Demand Better.

Local demand for cash wheat showed little improvement, with sales in all grades finally placed as high as 600,000, including some red winter to durum to Italy. It was noted that the bourse was higher than January contracts here had been ordered shipped out to the sea port, in the face of this the local market was unchanged to 5¢ lower compared with the May. There were signs of a better flour demand from abroad, but this was not reflected in the market. The milling demand in the wheat market, the firmness of the firmness in Liverpool was not reflected, estimates for $14,000 bushel, up from $14,000 the previous week, and up by last year. Argentine offers in general, however, were at slightly lower prices, and Italy was credited with having bought two cargoes from Australia.

Local sentiment was somewhat bearish on wheat, the greater part of the strength in futures was attributed to short covering, and the aggregate trade was not large. Little attention is being paid to routine development, and the general disposition is to wait for a leader to develop on either side.

Corn Breaks Toward Close.

Corn was somewhat firmer early on short covering and local buying, but the market quickly became overbought, and when some of the early buyers took the selling side they found support lacking, while against offers was a factor in ending the advance. County offerings were higher, and the general market is expected to result in a larger choice. Corn on spot was unchanged to 10¢ higher as compared with the May while low grades were easier.

Trade in oats was not large, and prices had within a range of 3¢, with the market rather firm. There was no change between May and July at 20¢. Eastern cash demand showed improvement and stocks are decreasing slowly.

There was some demand for cash rye from Germany at the seaport, with a trade reported as worked, but trade was light and the market unchanged by the action of wheat.

Dated January 1, 1927—Due January 1, 1947

Price: 100 and Interest, to Yield 5.50%

Interest payable January 1 and July 1 at the main office of Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank, Los Angeles, California, or at the Bankers Trust Company, New York City, without deduction for Normal Federal Income Tax not exceeding 2%. Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank, Los Angeles, Trustee.

The issuance of these bonds has been authorized by the Arizona Corporation Commission

Mr. H. L. Aller, President of the Company, summarizes from his letter as follows:

Company and Territory: Central Arizona Light and Power Company was incorporated in Arizona in February, 1920. The Company supplies the entire electric light and power service in Phoenix, Arizona, and immediately adjacent territory, and the entire gas service in Phoenix and gas at wholesale in Tempe. The Company, as of November 30, 1926, had a total of 21,723 customers, of whom 13,236 were electrical consumers and 8,487 were gas consumers. Total population served is estimated to be in excess of 48,000.

Phoenix is the capital of the State of Arizona, the county seat of Maricopa County and the distributing center of the famous Salt River Valley, where more than 240,000 acres of land are under irrigation within the Salt River project.

Security: These Series C bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, equally and ratably with the Series B bonds by a first mortgage on certain electric property and by a direct mortgage on the remainder of the Company's physical property, subject to one closed issue of underlying bonds due in 1931, of which $934,100 are outstanding with the public.

Valuation: The valuation of physical properties alone, based on appraisals made in 1921 and 1923 by independent engineers, plus additions to property account since dates of appraisals, is substantially in excess of $4,000,000, thus showing a large equity in excess of the $2,734,100 principal amount of all bonds outstanding, including those of this issue.

Earnings: The earnings of the Company have shown steady and substantial increases in both gross and net for many years past. Gross earnings increased from $1,103,042 for the calendar year 1922 to $1,624,836 for the year ended November 30, 1926, while total income increased from $372,501 to $590,558 during the same period. Total income available for interest on bond debt for the year ended November 30, 1926 was about 3½ times the annual interest charges on all bonds outstanding with the public, including this issue.

Supervision: The Company is controlled through ownership of all its Common Stock, except directors' shares, by the American Power & Light Company. Electric Bond and Share Company supervises (under the direction and control of the Boards of Directors of the respective companies) the operations of American Power & Light Company and its subsidiaries.

All proceedings relating to the issuance of these bonds will be passed upon by Messrs. Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher, Los Angeles, and bonds are offered subject to their approving opinion.

DIVIDEND RUMORS CHIEF INFLUENCE IN STOCK BUYING

New York, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Resumption of speculative operations for the rise in a number of specialties featured today's stock market. Standard industrial and radio made little headway, although the underwriters generally was firm. Prospects of easier money rates, combined with favorable merger and dividend rumors, furnished the background for the buying movement. The day's business news was rather mixed in character, with steel trade reviews reported no upturn in the pre-holiday rate of steel buying, but held out hope of increased railroad business in the next few days. Call money held steady at 5 per cent all day, but concessions were again reported in the "outside" market.

Changes Are Small.

Such recent changes as an United States Steel increase, Baldwin, General Motors, Allis-Chalmers, and Willys-Overland showed only mixed fractional changes on the day. The traditional window dressing on the eve of the opening of the New York automobile show took place, however, in some of the other newsmen. Nasdaq stocks, not high for the present, stood at 73% and then slipped back to 72% while Hudson, Pierce-Arrow preferred, Chrysler, and Stewart-Warner sold to 3 nearly 3 points higher.

Strength of Fox Film A and Warner Pictures coincided with the announcement of a special arrangement between the two companies for the showing of talking motion pictures. Talk of higher dividends and hidden assets accompanied the rise in Union Carbide to a new high record at 104. American Telephone and Telegraph, jumping over 3 points to 41%.

Tobacco Shares Strong.

Tobacco shares gave one of the best demonstrations of group strength, with buying influenced by reports of large current earnings, and rumors of new combinations. American Tobacco preferred and the B stock, American Sugar, and the C stock, all common, common moved up to 1 points, while United Cigar Stores preferred jumped nearly 5 points to a new peak at 123. There were only a few weak spots in the industrial list. Pilmann's broke nearly 1 points to 138% in reflection of speculative disappointment in the dividend, and then recovered half its loss and Mack Truck fell back nearly 2 points.

All Freight Traffic

Records Are Broken

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 5.—(AP)—The volume of freight handled by the railroads in 1926 was the greatest ever moved by them in any corresponding period, according to the American Railroad Association.

Loading of revenue freight amounted to 63,809,644 cars. This was an increase of 4,000 cars, or 6.5%, over the best previous record, established in 1925. This record freight movement was handled without transportation difficulties and with the greatest expedition ever attained.

Loading of revenue freight exceeded 1,000,000 cars in twenty-seven separate weeks in 1926, the largest number of such weeks ever reported and an increase of seven over the number of such weeks in 1925.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Lack of strong aggressive leaders in speculative grain trade was never needed as much as at present. A large element always follows a good leader or set of leaders who will make a bold stand on either side, and especially on the bull side of the market. The old time leaders have been driven out by speculative specialists, and there is no one, as is essential, for big operators to take hold of wheat and corn until the conditions are to prevail. This is the way the big men look at the situation. They find the stock market more interesting.

Necessity Made Her Self-Reliant, but Man Favors Vines

BY DORIS BLAKE

She is 22, has never had a proposal. She has had men friends and still has them. She's attractive in dress and manner—one of those women who plays fair with her own sex and with the other. She couldn't do a mean or underhanded thing. She is a friend of the wives of men she knew before their wives ever met them. And wives, knowing her for the square shooting woman she is, commit their husbands to her care should they be called out of town. All of which, says the thirty-two-year-old, is flattering in its way—but if it doesn't get me anywhere."

Thirty-two's men friends aren't all that of other women. Some of them are bastions of their own sex and older. But when it comes around to proposing time with them she isn't within earshot.

"And I long for nothing on earth so much as to be taken care of by some decent man," she cries. "Since I was 16, I have taken care of myself. I have supported my mother and a couple of younger sisters until they were old enough to earn for themselves. Out of this experience, naturally, I have had to develop a spirit of independence. If I ever knew how to lean I have long since been trained out of it. And I know enough about it if you'll allow me to say that a woman in character if you want to attract one matrimonially."

I wouldn't call it a slipup in character. But the spirit of independence does get in the way of a possible protective mate. Not being a man I can't say for certain that men judge the desirability of women by their own powers over them. But it is whispered about that the conquering type of male is so constituted. Which isn't such a dastardly charge against him after all, is it? It's only a polite way of saying he's a natural born leader.

But there are men that make perfect companions for the self-reliant. Men that are not only good-looking but also the swashbuckling type and yet are gentle beings, and given to relying on a woman. Often they have a more ideal companionship to offer a woman than the 100 per cent provider.

Doris Blake Answers

Arguing Makes for Discord.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a girl. I see her often, but it seems as if every time I see her we indulge in some kind of an argument, which is causing unfriendly feelings between us. What should I do?"

You can't argue continuously and still be friends. Just remember that each is entitled to his opinion and try to respect that opinion, even though you do not agree.

By All Means Tell Her.

"Dear Miss Blake: After going with a girl for two years, thinking that I loved her, I find it was just an infatuation. I would like to break with her. Do you think I ought to tell her the truth, or should I work it out?"

Do the manly thing and tell her. Worried. It won't be easy, but she'll admire you for it, and there will be no regrets later.

WEDDING

Judge John F. Garner, former mayor of Quincy, Ill., and a member of the international board of the Lion's club, and Miss Elizabeth Riesbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Riesbach, 914 Aldrie place, were married on New Year's day. It was announced yesterday. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. E. A. Thompson, pastor of the First Congregational church of La Grange.

Number, Please.

I am a telephone girl and have to stay up late at nights. The other morning, on Sunday, I went to church and, as the organ was rather dry, I soon dozed and was sound asleep.

The preacher said, a few moments later, "We will now sing hymn 675." Imagine my embarrassment when I woke up just then and said, "I'll ring them again. I'll try to complete your call."

With His Own Eyes.

My husband came home at noon one day and said, "There is a magazine agent coming over some time during the noon hour. He wants us to subscribe for some magazines. I told him I would have to talk it over with you first."

We lived right downtown over the winter, and could see out of our window to the roof and look down the street. So after dinner my husband said, "I am going out on the roof for a while and if he comes tell him I am not home and that we don't want the magazines."

He finally came and when I told my husband where I had been he looked at me and said, "When I was coming along the street I thought I saw him on the roof."

I was so embarrassed I don't remember the answer I gave him.

Helen had been told that perhaps Santa would bring her a baby brother for Christmas. She had been told this before, which surprised and rather puzzled Helen until hearing the baby

him early," she remarked. "I wanted to get rid of the crying. I think."

Ruffles Continue to Be Used as Trimming

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK—[Special Correspondence.]—Nowadays there is no percentage for a frock in having an unruled disposition. For ruffles, though not as they were used in the nineties, are much in evidence. Sometimes they are merely extra in the great drama of the sewed skirt. Or they may take other subordinate positions to provide a decorative border or finish. But, at any rate, they are more and more actively on the scene and frequently assume an almost stellar role.

When this happens ruffles are quite likely to be plaited. Such is the character of the ones adorning a smart little navy crépe fresh from Paris for the season of Fifth Avenue. In the window of a special shop, three rows of plaited ruffles are set on the skirt in an irregular line, two at the base of each puffed sleeve and a tiny one around the neck. Almost next door is a period frock for a young girl with a tiny tiered skirt, which outlines each tier with a ruffle.

Yes, indeed, they make ruffles of almost anything—ribbons, contrasting material, tulle—and one waits breathlessly to see them appear in fur. Nor does it change the facts to refer to them as flounces, for the difference is mainly a matter of length.

Or ruffles are ingeniously fashioned of soft material. Such are the extra special ruffles which carry all by themselves the decorative theme of the frock we are featuring today. It is a one piece frock of jade green crépe, slight straight except for the inevitable slight blouse at the hips. There a wide band of navy crépe is gathered, being at one side and edged with a finely plaited ruffle. The same edging finishes the graceful fichu cape draped over the shoulders. Flowers of pale green velvet fasten the fichu in front.
